

About Us

The Community Health Ventures team is a group of professionals trained in working with health care issues of at-risk populations. We are dedicated, capable, and experienced people who help in the planning, financing, implementing, and sustaining of real-world programs that are best practice models for other communities to learn from.

CHV is a for-profit, wholly owned subsidiary of the not-for-profit Muskegon Community Health Project, which was started from a W.K. Kellogg Foundation grant in 1994. Located on the shores of Lake Michigan in Muskegon, Michigan, CHV was founded in 2001 as a means to fund and sustain the work of the Muskegon Community Health Project by marketing consulting services and software products to communities across the country with similar health care access issues. Our staff can bring innovative solutions and the tools to implement them so any community across the country can better manage costs and extend access to the at-risk population.

Our Vision

We envision every community across the country helping its at-risk residents access the health care they need. These empowered communities can chart their own path to improved health status and ensure that every single person is receiving the attention they deserve.

Our Values
Compassion
Caring
Respect
Integrity
Service

Our Mission

We at CHV bring together communities and private organizations to form local solutions and strategies that provide total health care for those previously lacking it. We work with the community itself and provide innovative tools, knowledge, and software programs, as well as support to change public policy to further assist in increasing access to health care. We give the community all the tools it needs to create a successful collaboration toward health access for at-risk residents.
